

Central Bank of Russia upper level NMS project

Written by Максим

Friday, 27 August 2010 12:30 -

Net-Probe has successfully developed an engineering project of upper-level NMS for ITS Bank of Russia in the area of responsibility of the Center for Information Technology Bank of Russia.

system covers objects and processes in the information and telecommunication systems of the Bank of Russia: hardware and software systems, software, information and telecommunication resources, technological processes for banking information.